

Why Train with Rockwell Tactical?

Rockwell Tactical provides a unique mix of quality and experience to instruction of all levels—from the first time shooter to the experienced sportsman.

Quality

Our training employs the same up to date methods that our country's most experienced special operations personnel use, adapted to a civilian classroom.

Experience

Whether you're taking one of our classroom seminars, live fire classes, or top notch medical classes, you can rest assured that your instructor has earned his place in the classroom. Rockwell Tactical almost exclusively employs former service members, with a heavy emphasis on those with experience in the US Army Special Forces.

Unlike other companies whose instructors may have day jobs, our instructors do this for a living—under some of the most dangerous conditions imaginable.

Instruction For All Skill Levels

Here at Rockwell, we're also spouses and parents, and we understand the importance of training, from first step safety training all the way to complex movement and low light training.

We know there's nothing more important than protecting your life and the lives of those you hold dear—so it's our goal to provide you with the most complete training experience possible, from the moment you unbox your first firearm, to the time you're ready to carry a firearm in defense of you and your family.

Depend on Us

Whatever your skill level, we have a curriculum to guide you to your goal. Contact us, and we can help you create a personalized path to success, with classroom and live-fire classes located in beautiful Lancaster County, PA.

Contact our staff at this address—info@rockwelltactical.com—and get your journey started today.

ALSO

Check us out on Facebook at Rockwell Tactical Group, and RTG Training Group—we're always posting new content, gear reviews, class schedules, and interesting links.